

English Department Recommended Links

THE UNIVERSITY LIBRARY: <http://www.scd.uha.fr>

This gives you access to the catalogue (from anywhere), and to many on line resources (only from campus), especially with 'Ressources en ligne' for 'Lettres et sciences humaines', 'Presse en ligne', 'Signets' and 'Guide de la rcherche' (CERISE and FORMIST recommended)....

LINKS for English studies (just a few):

Civilisation:

<http://www.historyplace.com>

<http://lcweb2.loc.gov>, American Memory

<http://www.cercles.com/sources/intro.htm> : Revue pluridisciplinaire du monde anglophone

Literature:

<http://www.e-formation.cufef.uha.fr> , Littérature anglophone
(A.Bandry's list of links for literature)

<http://www.dundee.ac.uk/english/> 'Resources' : a very rich portal for literary studies from Dundee University English Department

<http://www.humbul.ac.uk> : The Humbul Humanities Hub aims to be UK higher and further education's first choice for accessing online humanities resources

General:

<http://vos.ucsb.edu> The Voice of the Shuttle: in 'search,' type 'literature' or 'history' or whatever you are looking for

<http://www.wrx.zen.co.uk/britnews.htm> British Press on Line

<http://www.ap.org> American press releases & papers

<http://www.ipl.org> Internet Public Library: online texts and many other things

FOR ADVANCED STUDENTS (maitrise and CAPES)

From the library or the FLSH computers, you can access the following links and databases:

LRC (Literature Resource Center) an excellent source for literary research

BNB (British National Bibliography)

MLA (more detailed, especially good for articles, later in your research)

British Library public catalogue (see direct link below)

Library of Congress (Washington D.C.; see direct link below)

Système universitaire de documentation (see direct link below)

In the area, large libraries from which you can borrow books for free with your EUCOR student card:

Strasbourg: <http://www.u-strasbg.fr/services/bibliotheques/>

Bâle: <http://www.ub.unibas.ch>

Freiburg : <http://www.ub.uni-freiburg.de>

Further away, especially useful for reference purposes

Bibliothèque Nationale de France : <http://www.bnf.fr>

American Library in Paris : <http://www.americanlibraryinparis.org>

British Library: <http://www.bl.uk> , catalogue at <http://www.blpc.bl.uk>

Library of Congress: <http://www.loc.gov>

The French library network (for inter-library loan through BUHA for example – you will have to pay for anything you order, but exploring is free)

University libraries : <http://www.sudoc.abes.fr>

All libraries (catalogue collectif de France): <http://www.ccf.fr.bnf.fr>

SEARCH ENGINES for scholarly research

<http://www.google.com>

<http://www.go2net.com>

<http://www.altavista.com>

TO HELP YOU GET STARTED

<http://www.allenandunwin.com/estudy/estudy.asp> : a site that will help you with general rules, to be completed & confronted with the FLSH 'Guide du mémoire'

<http://web.ccr.jussieu.fr/urfist/cerise/> for help with the Internet

And last but not least,

THE ENGLISH CLUB:

the_english_club@hotmail.com with a web page on the FLSH web site

<http://www.flsh.uha.fr>

Questions, suggestions and comments at a.bandry@uha.fr